Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 05 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with sunny spells, then some rain overnight. Becoming warmer.

Today:
A fine and dry day, with sunny spells for most. Turning cloudier through the late afternoon and evening. Feeling warmer than on Saturday, especially in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy across the region overnight. Outbreaks of rain are likely to affect northern parts, but most areas further south staying dry. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Monday:
Starting of cloudy on Monday, with northern areas experiencing patchy rain or drizzle. Skies will gradually brighten through the day with sunny spells developing, mostly across the south. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Early fog patches quickly clearing on Tuesday to leave sunny conditions. Sunny again on Wednesday, though breezy later. Cloudier on Thursday with a chance of showers. Feeling very warm.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.